POLITICAL TRIMMING.

Political trimming seems to be quite prevalent nowadays among individuals and newspapers. There is such a general disraption of parties that some persons and some papers attempt to get inside and outside and all around every question on which the people seem to divide. Here in Nevada, where the popular breeze blows constantly in one direction, the political trimmer is not so namerous as elsewhere, though occasionally one is found who seems incapable of comprehending the sitnation and clings to the old party just the same as if Wall street had not taken s mortgage on i'.

The Salt Lake Tribune, which is pubnow backing and filling to a remarkable to coin such bullion into standard dollars, degree. It controls the Federal patronage of Utab, which affords favorites fat pickings, and, therefore, while endeavoring to keep in with its subscribers it does not want to fall out with the administration. As it is inconvenient to publish two editions, one advocating the interests of the people, for home circulation, and the other supporting Harrison and intended for the latitude of Washington, it favors a third party one day and opposes it the next day. Last week, for instance, in referring to the general revolt throughout the country it

"It can easily be seen that a third candidate on the right kind of a platform, himself being a right kind of a man, would make serious inroads into the votes of Western States, and would change all calculations of the politicians. A great many men of both parties ju t now are saying they are tired of the old parties,"

Last Sunday, probably affected by the sanctity of the day, while in a truth-telling mood it said, referring to Harrison and Cleveland:

"There is a sentiment that both the preseut candidates were nominated by the money powers of the East, and that the people were used simply as catapaws to rake out golden chestnuts for men who have too many now. There is a feeling of revolt among the people, and it is natural. By the demonetization of silver hard times were ushered in; both the old parties refused to right that wrong, and we do not know but what if a third party could be started on the right kind of a platform it would have a potent effect even in this to from research in the started on the right kind of a platform it durance, as that is what it will amount The announcement that the year's election.

These sayings were intended for the Tribune's home subscribers, but as if to make amends for any remarks reflecting Democracy has not been able to mainon the Wall Street nominee it appeals to partisan prejudices and advises its readers to support one of the men whom it admits was nominated by the money powers of the East. Such trimming ill becomes the Tribune or any other paper that pretends to reflect public sentiment and desires to be consistent.

Had they abandoned the fight, as the Wall Street organs in Nevada did some months ago, there would not to-day be the slightest probability of the passage of a free coinage bill. Let the fight continue and the good work go on. The determination of the masses to ignore the Minneapolis and Chicago nominees and elect the Omaha candidate on a silver platform has forced a Silver bill through the Senate and will certainly compel the House to pass it, and, if the President signs it, it will be a brilliant victory for the silver men. All honor to our Senators, the champions of free coinage, who defied Wall Street, and in spite of the party lash and the taunts and jibes of the gold ring, consistently and persistently advocated the interests of their constituents, and finally sucthrough the Senate.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No To itself other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. LIGHTNING FLUID.

THE GREAT PAIN KILLER!

INSTANTANEOUS IN ITS ACTION !

This is the most wonderful pain-destroyer that has ever been put before the public. From its rapidity of action comes the name we give it. Positively the greatest boon to suffering humanity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. We warrant it to be a sure and lasting cure for all pain. This is one of the few harmless but effective remedies that is most valuable for inward as well as outward applications, and will cure in cases where all other medicines have failed. For Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Colic, Influenza, Coughs and Colds, Cramp in Stomach, Pains in Back and Limbs, and all pain flesh is heir to. For sale

She gave him a tremendous shake. "Ugh," he almost shouted, sitting straight up, "what in thunder's the row. Maria?' She clapped her hand over his mouth

"Sh-sh!" she whispered, "there's most critical hours, safe and sure burglars down stairs." "Aw," he growled, "we ought to be thankful they are not up stairs. Go to sleep!" and he fell back to the pillow.

"Hiram, I tell you," she insisted, with another shake, "there's burglars down stairs. I heard them. You go down and see what they want." "Maria," he protested, "I'll do nothing of the sort. If they don't see what they want they can ask for it. That's business."

"But you shall go down, Hiram, and see," sho urged and pleaded at the same time.

"I won't, I tell you, Maria. Because your father owns a dry goods store is no sign that I believe it is no trouble to show goods, and I repeat, madam, if those burglars want anything they've got to wait on themselves. It's after business hours anyway. You must think we run an all night place. Go to sleep, I tell you."

Mrs. Riginbotham gave a sudden clutch at his arm.

"There," she nearly screamed, "I hear them coming up stairs now."

"Well, dear," he said soothingly, 'you'd better jump up and put on a dress. It will never do in the world for you to receive strange gentlemen in your present attire."

"We'll be murdered in our beds," she wailed.

"Do you really think you will," he inquired with some interest.

A Lawyer's Little Joke.

The humor of the legal mind is some-times a trifle subtle. There is just now to be seen in the window of a famous secondhand book shop in the Strand a complete set of "Voltaire" in fifty volumes. The set is bound in what is technically known as "law caif." It has evidently belonged to a lawyer who hesitated to let his clients perceive that he was given to reading anything so mischievously frivolous as the philosopher of Ferney, or who could not resist his own little joke. Instead, therefore, of lettering the volume "Voltaire," which everybody would have understood, he had them inscribed "Arouet's Reports." The joke would of course be lost upon those who happened to have forgotten that the great philosopher's proper name was Arouet de Voltaire,-London Cor. Yorkshire (England) Port.
